

Foulston Siefkin Expertise

Foulston Siefkin has grown to be the largest Kansas-based law firm through its commitment to provide excellent legal services promptly and efficiently. We offer health care providers a high level of expertise and services at competitive rates. We place a premium on understanding each of our client's unique needs. Our attorneys are committed to assisting our clients with the development of measures to minimize legal exposure. We also appreciate the importance of a quick response to emergency situations. To that end, our attorneys strive to remain readily accessible to our clients.

Our health care attorneys maintain a high level of expertise regarding federal and state regulations affecting the health care industry. Our firm devotes significant resources to ensure our attorneys remain up-to-date on daily developments. At the same time, the relationship of our health care practice group with Foulston Siefkin's other practice groups including the taxation, general business, employment and labor, and commercial litigation groups, enhances our ability to consider all of the legal ramifications of any situation or strategy.

Conference Information:

This conference is designed to provide training and assistance to health care executives regarding the basic fundamentals of Kansas and federal law as applied to health care organizations doing business in the Kansas health care community. This program is designed to apply to current and future hospital administrators and managers, practice group administrators, nursing home administrators, physicians, board members of private or governmental health care organizations, physicians, CFOs and compliance officers. Our program will focus exclusively on areas of the law that impact health care executives on a daily basis and will assist in providing the knowledge and information essential to conduct business and be compliant in this highly regulated environment.

Seminar Topics

Risk Management in the Real World

From the initiation of medical treatment through completion, there are times when every provider must stop, assess the potential for liability, and move forward. Some practical advice on some problem areas.

Physician Issues

Hospitals, physicians, and the legal relationships between health-care organizations and physicians are among the most highly regulated. This session will be devoted to a discussion of the most common legal issues facing hospitals and physician groups. Stark, fraud and abuse, physician contracting, medical staff, corporate practice of medicine, and reimbursement, among others, will be discussed.

Now What? What You Need to Know When the Feds Come Calling

Health care providers become aware of government investigations in a variety of ways - employee interviews by federal or state investigators, OIG subpoenas, Civil Investigative Demands, Grand Jury Subpoenas, or the dreaded Search Warrant. Learn how to respond appropriately, but within your rights as a health care provider.

Are You Sure You Want to Do That? "Gotchas" for Kansas Health Care Providers

Have you ever said, "That can't possibly be the law!"? In this session our panel will identify several legal "Gotchas" under Kansas and federal law and will discuss how to avoid them.

New Developments in Employment Law

Change was coming, and like it or not, it's here! In this session we will provide an overview of the new amendments to the ADA, the new FMLA regulations, the Ledbetter Fair Pay Act and other recent employment and labor developments affecting the workplace, including a recent Supreme Court decision of note, along with what is on the horizon from an employment and labor standpoint for your health care facility or practice.

Things You Should Know About Kansas Medical Malpractice Issues

You've received lawsuit papers, now what do you do? In this session we will cover the life cycle of a lawsuit, responding to subpoenas, expert witnesses, depositions, court appearances, and damages.

Implementing Health Law Basics - Practical Advice to Maintain Compliance

A general discussion of processes and procedures to minimize compliance risk. Compliance plans, HIPAA and contracting issues.
