KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | MARCH 3, 2023

WEEK 8 REVIEW

Legislators returned on Wednesday for Week 8 of the session. This week has been slow contrasted with the pace of turnaround week. Upon Wednesday's return, committee chairs began to assess the bills passed by the other chamber. Thursday, the House debated several alcohol bills and raising the age to 21 to use tobacco products. During the floor debate, an interesting amendment to extend the no-smoking ban to casinos was ruled nongermane. The final vote on HB 2269 was 68-53. The debate calendar also included HB 2124, amending the Kansas Cereal Malt Beverage Act. It removes the 30 percent food sales requirement for Sunday sales. The vote was 97-25.

Both House and Senate tax committees continued hearings on tax bills. The House Appropriations and Senate Ways and Means Committees continued deliberations on agency budgets. Thursday, the Senate Ways and Means Committee added a budget proviso blocking public post-secondary institutions from asking questions or seeking oaths about diversity, equity, and inclusion. The rationale was those questions were part of a radical attempt at reverse discrimination.

The February Revenue estimates were $17.5 million, or 3.5%, above the estimate. This marks the 30th time in the last 31 months where estimates exceeded the predictions. Looking at Fiscal Year 2023 through eight months, revenue is $6.13 billion, or 3%, above the Consensus Revenue Estimating Group (CREG) projections.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AWARD

Wednesday, Gov. Kelly reported that Site Selection magazine has selected Kansas as the recipient of the Governor's Cup, recognizing the highest level of private business investment per capita. The award recognizes only properties with at least $1 million in capital investment creating a minimum of 20 new jobs and 20,000 square feet of new construction.
