

COVID-19

AN EMPLOYER'S GUIDE TO CORONAVIRUS WEBINAR

Recorded March 23, 2020

View presentation slides

The Families First Coronavirus Response Act was signed by the President on March 18 and will become law in two weeks, resulting in significant changes to employers' duty to provide paid sick leave and FMLA leave to families caring for children. As the COVID-19 pandemic charts new territory daily, employers must also follow specific guidance from regulatory agencies and existing law in managing their workplaces. In this recorded webinar, Foulston Siefkin LLP partner Tara Eberline walks through key employment issues in the Families First Act and other laws implicated by the COVID-19 outbreak. Topics include employee leaves of absence, ADA considerations for high-risk employees, Occupational Safety and Health Administration requirements related to safe workplaces, and more.

Foulston is carefully monitoring the ongoing COVID-19 developments; the firm's COVID-19 resource material—including guidance regarding employment law, employee benefits, tax credits, contract and supply chain issues, business interruption insurance, healthcare facilities, and more— can be found on Foulston's website at www.foulston.com/coronavirus. If you do not already receive our communications and would like to make sure you are on our mailing list, please sign up here.

PRACTICE AREAS

---

- Employment & Labor
- Employee Benefits & ERISA
- Healthcare
- OSHA